

Morris Holland's "Multiple Choice" Test¹

QuizB

1. When comparing LOK and ZIB, Hobson's experiments found that:
 - a. LOK is easier
 - b. ZIB is easier
 - c. ZIB is more difficult
 - d. both a & b

2. In his famous study of infant baboons, Bourth showed that the effect of SAB was:
 - a. they inevitably displayed a submission posture
 - b. all infants react with instant aggression
 - c. afterwards, they never showed affection for their mothers
 - d. they tended to isolate themselves from the group

3. The result of Modin's study of KUK indicated that:
 - a. all persons suffering from KUK are dangerous
 - b. no persons suffering from KUK are dangerous
 - c. the chance of a person suffering from KUK being dangerous is relatively small
 - d. KUK most often results from love deprivation

4. In your readings, Carter described a number of problems with the FAZ theory. The most important of these was:
 - a. it is inconsistent with DUM's law
 - b. it is explained in relatively simple terms
 - c. its superior predicative value
 - d. it appears to account for previously puzzling observations

5. Which of the following is best known for his classic study of memory in children:
 - a. S. Bourth
 - b. R. Smith
 - c. Q. Bevem
 - d. H. Lawsen

6. One difficulty in trying to teach DAK to children under twelve is that:
 - a. most students forget it easily
 - b. it includes advanced mathematics

¹ <http://www.college.ucla.edu/up/aap/tutoring/General/mctest.html>

- c. it tends to be hard to remember
- d. advanced mathematics is involved

7. During the critical early years of childhood, the effect of BOF is:

- a. the children never learn to relate to others
- b. juvenile delinquency in every case
- c. a tendency toward speech difficulties
- d. inevitable mental retardation

8. The effect of HIG on performance tests in college is

- a. eye movements are associated with dreaming about 80% of the time
- b. HIG reduces average performance
- c. following HIG, scores tend to increase
- d. HIG results in much lower scores in every case

9. The Western state with the highest number of KUGS in 1951 was:

- a. Oregon
- b. New York
- c. Denver
- d. Pennsylvania

10. The research of R. Smith shows that the effect of GIK on human memory was:

- a. people become more active in their everyday movements
- b. relaxation increases up to a point
- c. the children's recall is made more difficult
- d. appetites generally improve